Morning Oregonian.

VOL. XVII.—NO. 119. PORTLAND, OREGON: FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1877. PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Silk Factories Closed.

PATERSON, N. J., June 20.—There is great excitement among silk factory hands. Five thousand are now out at Hamilton. The strike is about down and several mills are closed until. At a meeting of the strikers at Military Hall to-day, Gustave Hendricks advised returning to work. The women at- tacked him and tore his coat, and one woman threw dust and salt in his eyes; he drew an revolver but was chased out of the building and ran about half a mile. The woman who used the pepper was held to bail in $500. Leaders visited the various mills to induce operatives to join them. The police were called on to protect hands.

Clergymen Arrested.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The Brooklyn board of police to-day passed an ordinance requiring clergymen to have not reported marriages to authorities to be prosecuted. The defendants are Beecher and Talmage. The fine in some cases is twenty-five dollars.

Matrimonial.

Miss Jones, daughter of Geo. Jones, was married yesterday to E. R. Sharpless, lawyer. The latter is a relative of Governor Russel Lowell and Robert C. Winthrop.

In Defense of Wharton.

NEW ORLEANS, June 21.—The following extract from a letter:

NEW ORLEANS, June 16th
Hon. Wharton Barker, U.S. Marshal—DEAR SIR: In view of the fact that the statement published in the papers that you aided in disentegrating the Packard organization is believed by some, and there- fore may be used by the enemy, to the detriment of the party, and inasmuch as that was there and whose fidelity was questioned, that I should bear testimony to the en- tire falsity of the charge. Those who have unjustly accused you of this action have been rebuked and censured that wrong, but have been referred as to your being one of the agents by whom it was accomplished. To the end that justice may be fulfilled to the Republican par- ty, and to you, I request that this letter be made use of in this or such other manner as you deem proper to your vindication. With respect, PACKARD.

Ex-Official Sent to Jail.

NEW ORLEANS, June 20.—Ex-State Auditor Lynch was to-day sentenced to prison for 10 years and fine for refusing to produce the books called for and to answer questions as to their contents, pro- pounded by the grand jury. Johnson one of the missing documents were found and others taken away when they were opposing an attack by the White League in January last. In a petition to the Governor Johnson says he could not answer for fear of criminating himself.

Outlaws and Horse Thieves.

LOUISVILLE, June 21.—The Gazette has in- formation from Vanceburg, Ky., of a fight be- tween a vigilance committee and a band of outlaws. Between 60 and 70 men were engaged. One reported killed. The vigil- ance force is led by Geo. W. Stomper, assisted by G. Underwood.

A Riot Impending.

A great excitement at Ludlow, Ky., over the killing of Olschneer yesterday. The murdered man say the coroner's jury gave the verdict that deceased was killed by a gun shot wound fired by unknown, was composed of men who owned the house, and there are threats of violence. Citizens have organized a com- pany of guards and are expecting an attack to-night.

Fire Escapes.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The coroner's jury, in- quiring into the circumstances of the burning of a tenement on Shawmut avenue, by which several lives were lost on the 6th inst. found the insufficient means for escape.

Tramps Killed.

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., June 20.—Five tramps were killed in the broken furnaces of a long dis- carded iron mill near Bridgeport, were buried alive by the breaking of the walls, and killed.

The Naval School.

ANNAPOLIS, June 20.—Among graduates at the Naval Academy to-day were two Japa- nese.

Message of President Hayes was enthusi- astically received.

Cleveland Races.

CLEVELAND, June 20.—In the Forest City Driving Club races to-day Inspiration won the 2:30 class, mile dash, in 1:44; Lapland second, and Rose third. Three mile heats, all ages, Puss Butler won the first heat in 5:44; Lapland second, time 1:44½, 1:45, 1:43, 1:46; third heat on record. Third race, 2:40 class, Bull Bruce won; Verdigris second, Lapland third.

New Orleans Custom House.

NEW ORLEANS, June 21.—The New Orleans Custom House commissioners have decided to open on the two first specifications and instructions as to the number of em- ployes necessary to conduct the business of the house, their compensation, which re- portedly will be mailed to the depart- ment to-day. A very considerable reduc- tion will be recommended. The commission have given notice to all importers and mer- chants that complaints against the revenue service must be forwarded and state facts in order that investigation may recommend modes of relief and redress.

The Johnston Contempt Case.

Counsel contended that the charge involved in this alleged contempt was not a controversy before the Supreme Court of the United States on writ of error to the supreme court of Louisiana. That further claim that as criminal informa- tion was filed against him in the same court charging larceny of these books, that the contempt for not producing them was a false persecution.

Body Found.

BOSTON, June 21.—The body of Mary Ella Sullivan, abducted from East Boston nearly two weeks ago, has been found in the Merrimac river, six miles from the city. The body was weighted with rocks in the smallest possible number of sacks and weighted down.

National Bank of Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—It is stated that depos- its in the National Bank of Missouri were $2,000,000. Included in this was $130,000 belonging to the city, and $130,000 similarly placed there by assignees, registers and others in chancery, all secured by bonds. The claimed depositors will be paid 50 cents on the dollar when the assets of the bank being sufficient for this purpose.

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—The committee ap- pointed yesterday by the board of directors of the National Bank of the State of Missouri to examine the books of the bank reported to the board to-day. The bank ex- pects to have finished its examination. The de- posits are said to be two and a half millions, and it is still asserted they will be paid. Mayor Overstolz stated this evening that arrange- ments had been made to provide credit in full, and provision has been made whereby the funds deposited by assignees, registers and masters in chancery will be available. The universal report ascribes the failure of the bank to holding so much corporation stock having subscribed liberally, it is said, to the Bridge and Tunnel Co., Chamber of Commerce Association and other corpora- tions, none of which stock has paid any divi- dends. It does not seem as though any other banks will be affected by the suspension.

The Press of New York on Current Topics.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The Herald and other papers editorially intimate that the Tweed trial is rather unsatisfying, but that Fair- ley will turn to speak has come.

The Times thinks Townsend's statement not to affect Tweed's release or in any way to weaken his client's interests. The Times thinks the letter does not add much to the stores of the public concerning the efforts which were made to use Tweed's name and influence for political purposes during the session of the legislature.

The Times says Seligman's friends have acted considerably, and it seems, probably will be, no complaints in the courts nor any public demonstration in his be- half. Seligman Bros. have received various private letters condemning Hilton's policy, the most notable ones being from William Cullen Bryant, Gen. Roger A. Pryor, Jackson S. Schultze, ex-Mayor Wickham, John S. Sherwood, Geo. W. Blunt.

The Pottsville Executions.

POTTSVILLE, June 20.—The caution and se- crecy with which all matters connected with the execution of the Molly Maguires to- morrow are conducted are noticeable. It is said the reason for it is in order that those engaged in arranging it may not be known. The sheriff will not tell reporters where the gallows is to stand.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., June 21.—Preparations for the executions here were consummated to-day. All approaches to the place are patrolled by mounted police acting under orders of Chief Burgess. Inside and outside the jail the force on duty has been doubled and every precau- tion taken to guard against the rescue of the murderers.

Stern Justice—Eleven Murderers Hung.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., June 21.—This morn- ing the four Mollie Maguires confined here were executed.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., June 21.—Shortly after 10 o'clock deputy sheriffs and reporters, and other assistants, entered the corridors. The sheriff adjusted the rope and called his assist- ants to him. In a few minutes Campbell's cell door was opened, and he appeared, ac- companied by a priest. Campbell walked quickly to the scaffold, ascending with a light step. The priest said the prayers for the dying, the prisoner responding and re- peating, kissing the crucifix, and turning his face upwards his lips slightly moved in prayer. Doyle, who was next brought out, walked upon the scaffold unassisted. John Donahue walked boldly out and up the steps of the scaffold. Kelly came last. They were all attended by a priest. None of the four evinced much nervousness. The priests prayed for several minutes, the prisoners kneeling and responding. After the priests left the scaffold, Sheriff Roundbush adjusted the rope and asked if they had anything to say. Campbell replied that he forgave everybody and con- tinued, "I have not an enemy in the world at this moment." Doyle spoke for some time, but his words were inaudible. Donahue had nothing to say and Kelly recited after the priest a plea for forgiveness. The sheriff left the scaffold and in half a minute pulled the rope, which let the trap fall. In a moment the bodies began swinging. Kelly, Doyle and Campbell died easy; Donahue drew him- self up and struggled for two minutes. Doyle's heart ceased to beat in twelve min- utes, Campbell's in fourteen minutes, Dona- hue's in six minutes and Kelly's in seven and a half minutes.

WILKESBARRE, June 21.—Lanahan, the Mollie Maguire, was executed here this morn- ing.

POTTSVILLE, Pa. June 21.—The general sus- pension of business throughout the day served to make more impressive the tragic occurrence which marks this most eventful day in the criminal calendar of the State. Soon after dawn the town became the rendez vous for groups of pedestrians from all parts of the neighboring country. In consequence of some delay, the persons entitled to admis- sion to the jail at 8 o'clock, were compelled to remain in waiting outside for more than half an hour. Meanwhile immediate relatives of the condemned took a last farewell. The scene was a trying one. The brother and two sisters of Roarity were admitted at 6 o'clock, and soon after, the aged and impoverished father of Manly, who had walked to the prison all the way from Gilber- ton, a distance of 13 miles. Several of the relatives of others not having applied at the appointed time were not admitted. To each of the doomed men has been assigned a dozen clergyman who will attend his charge in his dying moments. The Rev. gentlemen were in attendance at dawn this morning and afterwards assisted in the celebration of mass in a private apartment. But three of the doomed men were present. The religious service being repeated at 8, all access to the men by others than the sheriff and his assist- ants was scrupulously avoided. Carroll, Manly and Roarity express their eagerness to die and are apparently calm and resigned. The present arrangement by Sheriff Werner contemplated the execution of two at one time and the execution of the other four with- in half an hour later. Almost an uninter- rupted line of people holding admission cards has been passing through the front portion of the gate within the last hour, including many physicians, about fifty journalists representing every newspaper in the county, and leading journals of large cities. Sheriff's deputies, members of juries, and a detachment of the coal and iron police force, make up a total of about 150 persons already admitted. The site of the gallows is at the further extremity of the yard from the usual place of entrance, and is plainly visible from the convicts' cell win- dows. A frame structure for temporary de- posit of the bodies of the victims intervening. The scaffolds themselves which immediately adjoin each other, are rudely but substantially constructed. Each is supplied with two hanging ropes.

At 10:50 the creaking of the iron gate at the opposite end of the yard caused all eyes to be turned thither. Two minutes later the mourn- ful procession appeared and wended its way along the pavement towards the scaffold. Of the condemned who were brought, McGeehan and Boyle accompanied by Sheriff Werner and Deputy Sheriff John Snyder, and attend- ed each by a clergyman. The doomed men with their attendants walked quickly, and neither gave the least indication of trepida- tion. The party mounted the steps of the scaf- fold nearest in their course and proceeded to the farthest of the three, upon which only were visible the suspended nooses. Upon taking their places, the Catholic service for the men dying began, when the men left their cells, conducted by the clergymen, Boyle and Mc- Geehan giving responses in firm and audible tones. The demeanor of Boyle until the drop fell was one of entire self- possession. His composure was not assumed, and as the services proceeded he occasionally inhaled the perfume of a beautiful red rose which he held in his hand. McGeehan's bear- ing was that of a sincere and contrite penitent. Both men kissed the priests and shook hands with the sheriff. Boyle responded to remarks of his attending priest, with, "I ain't a bit sorry." McGeehan addressed the assemblage as follows: "I have nothing at all to say to you about my guilt or innocence. I only ask forgiveness of the whole world if I have done a wrong to them, and Almighty God may for- give all Christians and all them that he ever created in this world for sake of forgiving my sins." Here the speech was ended the con- cluding portion being delivered in tremulous tones. Boyle then addressed the crowd and without a symptom of emotion, said: "I have nothing to say as regards my guilt or in- nocence. I forgive those that put me here, and hope they will forgive me. I have done all that is in my power to save my soul and trust in God. If there is any sin on my soul I have not cleared off, God will make me suffer for it. Now I offer up in this death that I have to die, a prayer to God for the sake of Him to forgive my sins." The last good byes were soon said, and the arms and legs of the men pinioned, both calmly sur- veying the preparation, and McGeehan oc- casionally murmuring prayer and gazing in- tently heavenward. As the noose was being adjusted around his neck he exclaimed: "Christ have mercy on me." "Lord have mercy on me." Boyle and McGeehan were now left alone on the scaffold, and at 11 o'clock the drop fell. Boyle died almost in- stantly, while McGeehan gave symptoms of life for 16 minutes.

The Shields Guard and Wade Hampton.

AUBURN, N. Y., June 20.—The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Shields Guard attracts a large concourse of spectators. Gov. Robinson arrived last night. Gen. Shields arrived on the same train. Gov. Wade Hampton arrived this morning. At 11 o'clock the procession moved through the principal streets, then to Burt Grove, where Hon. T. M. Pomeroy delivered the welcoming speech, and was followed by Gen. Shields, Gov. Robinson and Gov. Hampton. The public reception and speeches take place this evening. Gen. Hampton said:

I came solely at the request of Gen. Shields to pay him honor and to bring from South Carolina that flag which waved over him in those glorious battles on the hills and plains of Mexico; that flag which derives not a little of its lustre from his brilliant achievement. (Applause.) That was the flag here, the battle flag of the Palmetto regiment was held up by Capt Hogan and received with cheers; that was the flag, my friends, which was first placed on the walls of the City of Mexico, over the halls of the Montezumas. It was the last flag to wave as the conquering army left the capi- tal, the regiment remaining by request of the Mex- ican authorities and forming the rear guard; that regiment, my friends, went out 1,100 strong, com- prising the best blood in the State, young men, buoyant with life and hope. It returned to South Carolina with 200 men, and now but a small rem- nant is left to guard this sacred relic. I am sure they would have loaned it for no other purpose than that it might here do honor to the man who did honor to it. (Applause.) Your distinguished Governor has been pleased to allude to the contest in South Carolina. That, my friends, was not a po- litical struggle. It rose far higher than any such contest ever waged on this continent. It was a contest for civilization, for home rule, good govern- ment, for life itself. It was a contest waged by the people of South Carolina, not, as demagogues would tell you, against Northern men. It was a contest waged against carpet bag- gers, and when I say carpet baggers I mean by that the thief. (Applause.) We do not call any Northern man, any Irishman, any Ger- man or Englishman who settles in our midst, an honest citizen a carpet bagger. We welcome such with open arms. We tell them to come to our genial skies and fertile soil. Come one, come all, and I pledge them, in the name of the State, a hospitable, warm-hearted reception. We do not care whether they are Republicans or Democrats. What was done by the Democratic legislature of South Carolina on almost its first action? A vacancy occurred on the supreme bench; a chief justice was to be elected. It was a place which had been filled by men of the very highest reputation in our Commonwealth; the names of honored sons of Carolina, who would have done honor to any bench in the country, were presented; but that Democratic legislature elected to the Supreme Court a citizen of New York, who came to the State as a soldier, and who is a Republican. (Ap- plause.) What further proof do you want that we are not governed by proscriptive feeling? Does it not show that we have fulfilled the pledges and promises made during the last canvass, to make no distinction on account of race, color or party? (Applause.) We wanted to show the people of the North that we were actuated by the highest and most patriotic feelings. We knew that Judge Willard was an honest man. No stain was upon his name. Though he differed from the Demo- cratic legislature in politics, they elected him to the position. We did wage the political canvass. We were fighting in interests dear to freemen. Thanks to brave and true men and glorious women of South Carolina this war for good government was successful. They have established it in every department of the state government. They have ac- complished this, and they now propose fulfilling to the very letter the pledges I made and appealed to high Heaven to witness that they should be carried out. Indeed, I declared that if elected by the favor of the white people of South Carolina; that I should know no race, no party, no color; that all men who stood on the soil of South Carolina, native or foreign-born, white or black, should be equal before the law, and so help me God, it shall be done. Enthusiastic applause.) I am glad to say the bitterness which marked that strife is pass- ing away, and I say to you men of New York as I say at home, I owe my election to the colored men of South Carolina. (Applause.) Thousands then voted for me, knowing that I had been a good friend of the race, knowing that I was the first man after the war to recommend they should be given the right of suffrage, and I have never yet changed my opinion on this subject. Knowing this they sustained me in large numbers, and I am happy to say that nearly all here of the more ignorant are passing away, and they are satisfied that they will be dealt with in all respects as citizens of South Caro- lina. We intend to try to elevate them, educate them, and show them their responsibilities as well as the blessings of liberty. We want them as other citizens of South Carolina. We want them to be worthy the great boon of citizenship of this great Republic. My friends, I must again thank you for this most cordial greeting, doubly gratifying be- cause it is the voice of New York reverberating to South Carolina. I come, as I said, to do honor to my dis tinguished friend General Shields. He were the gray; but we can let the cur- tain drop over those years and go back to the time when that flag, borne by him, floated alike over men of the south and men of the North, and we can look beyond to a future when through all time that flag shall float over a free, prosperous and re- united country. (Applause.) I say this to you as a Southern man; for when I fought I fought hard as I knew how against you, and I say also that if that flag floats as it should do over free and equal States; if it shall be the symbol of liberty and equality and justice, all the states and every man in every station, men of the South will honor it and love it as of old, and the time may come once more when New York and South Carolina shall stand shoulder to shoulder against a common ene- my, until their blood mingles upon the soil. (Ap- plause.) My friends, I shall bear this cordial meeting back home with me to the little Palmetto state, and assure our people that your hearts throb kindly for us. I trust in God that a better future is before the whole country, and that we shall have peace, prosperity and liberty to every man upon the continent.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Relations of the United States with Mexico.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The renewed re- ports of American designs on Mexican terri- tory are sensational and baseless, stimulated by adventurers, who hope to create public sentiment favoring their schemes for obtain- ing Mexican mineral lands. The effort excites only contempt here, and should not deceive the intelligent Pacific coast. Elsewhere it will utterly fail.

Financial News.

Secretary Sherman's letter, declaring un- equivocally that the new 4½ per cent. bonds are payable in gold, reassures the success here of that loan.

Salaries Reduced.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The World's Wash- ington special says: It was decided at the Postoffice Department to-day to reduce the salaries of New York city letter carriers, after July 1st, five per cent. It was deemed best to reduce the pay rather than the number. Postmaster James wrote to the Department not only against the reduction of the number of carriers, but insisting that the service needed increase, and giving excellent reasons for it, but the Postmaster General states that the appropriation is not sufficient for the in- crease of expenses, but required the reduction named. The officials of the department all pay a high compliment to the New York let- ter carriers, and regard them as the poorest paid class of employes for the services ren- dered of any under the government. Not one per cent. of them proved dishonest or in- efficient.

No More Vacancies.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The President has signed the commission of Alfred N. Dockery of North Carolina, consul at Leeds. This ap- pointment fills the last vacancy among salaried consulates. Very few vacancies are likely to occur in salaried consulates between this time and the meeting of Congress. It is understood to be the intention of the State Department to fill all such vacancies by pro- motions for merit and experience in consu- lar service.

U. S. Patents.

The Commissioner of Patents to day heard arguments in the case of interference be- tween the application of Hoe and Tucker for patent for improved printing presses. All patents owned by the Bullock Printing Press Co., for reissue of which an application is also pending.

Protesting Hyman.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—North Carolina Re- publicans having vigorously protested against the appointment of Hyman, colored, to be collector of internal revenue there, it is proba- ble his commission will not be issued.

Pension Agent.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Albert Hart was to-day appointed pension agent at San Fran- cisco, vice Mosely, suspended.

Government Telegraphing.

Theodore M. Vail, superintendent railroad mail service; Wm. A. Knapp, chief clerk of the postoffice department, and J. B. Merrick, of the office of the First Assistant Postmaster General, were to-day appointed a commission to revise rates of tolls paid by the government to telegraph companies and fix them for the ensuing fiscal year. Several gentlemen who were connected with the commission on civil service reform of President Grant are now engaged by the direction of President Hayes in preparation of rules on the same subject to operate in all public offices throughout the country.

Crowded with Interviewers.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The President re- turned from Annapolis this morning. There was an immense crowd at the Executive mansion, seeking interviews with the Presi- dent.

THE SELIGMAN-HILTON EMBROGLIO.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Nearly all the jour- nals this morning discuss the Jewish question referred to by the Times, yesterday. The Sun closes an editorial as follows:

The Jews have been rapidly filling up every av- enue to wealth and prosperity in this free country, and they have become a very important part of our populat on. Their thrift is proverbial and their increase is very rapid. While the liberty to select one's own associates is among the most cher- ished and highest privileges of social life, yet England, with all her spurious predilections of race and reli- gion has accepted a man of Jewish birth for her Prime Minister and has ennobled other Jews. This eccentric action of Hilton in excluding Jews when the negro must be admitted, can't fail to attract a good deal of attention.

The Tribune says the American people detest un- just and invidious distinctions, especially when they are based upon differences of creed, and that they will always respect a people who respect them- selves.

The Herald closes an editorial thus: It is to be presumed Judge Hilton intended no insult, but he was strangely thoughtless and inconsiderate. If the head of the great house of Rothschild should happen to visit this country during the present season he would be excluded from the principal hotel of one of our most important watering places because the proprie or does not approve of his reli- gion. Even the prime minister might be looked upon with suspicion by the hotel clerks, for he was born and bred a Jew and might not happen to have in his pocket a certificate of Christian bap- tism, a document as important in that evangelical institution, the Grand Union Hotel, as Bank of England notes to pay his bills. We have no doubt Judge Hilton will regret his mistake when he sees in what light it is viewed by the public.

Seligman's exclusion from the Saratoga hotel continues to be the current sensation. Notwithstanding the press generally, and nearly all the individuals whose names are mentioned by the press in this connection, denounce Judge Hilton's course, on the pre- sumption that it was prompted by religious in- tolerance, there are some, even among the Hebrews, who concur with Washington Nathan in an extreme reticence, implying an indisposition to criticize the judge adversely, if indeed they do not privately oppose his course. This is only significant of the fact that they affect to consider the question purely a personal or social one, and not in- volving religious creed. It is creditable to American liberty that everybody concurs in denouncing Judge Hilton, if his purpose is to proscribe because of sectarian faith.

Lauterbach, Seligman's attorney, in state- ments to the press, characterizes Hilton as a narrow-minded bigot, whose re election as judge was defeated by lawyers and others of foreign and Hebrew birth, whom he system- atically snubbed when on the bench. He names several besides Seligman whose appli- cations for rooms at the Grand Union have failed of a favorable response, though an offensive reason therefor was not stated, and only inferred from Seligman's case. Lauter- bach states that an early public meeting on the subject is contemplated.

Hilton disclaims personal difficulty with Seligman, and renews the declaration that his refusal to admit Hebrews is based on business grounds solely. To a Herald reporter he said:

The reason of Selig man's animosity is very plain. We formerly purchased from him our foreign ex- change, but since I have been at the head of the firm we have not done so because I do not consider the house as safe as some others. Lately I have noticed that he has been transacting me, though he has all the time been very affable to me in my presence. As for the house of A. T Stewart & Co., they can stand it if Seligman can. It seems to me that it is our own business whether we are losing money or not. We do not wish to press people to buy goods from us if they do not like to be displeased. Seligman does not by any means represent the Jewish senti- ment of the city. He has thrown the Hebrew Bible and book of Moses out of the window long ago they don't like him in the syndicate, and would get him out if they could. He received his ap- pointment under Grant through Tom Murphy, with whom he was in trouble. So far as the hotel is concerned, I have taken the proper course and shall adhere to it. Other people will not go where the Jews congregate in such large numbers. They have completed their grand Sharon Springs and almost ruined Long Branch. The Grand Union suffered last summer from this cause. After all, this amounts to noth ng, and I do not propose to enter into any controversy with him.

To the Sun reporter Hilton said he had nothing to retract in relation to this controversy, which Seligman forced upon him; he had simply done his duty as the agent of Mrs. Stewart. It had been ascertained since Seligman made application for accommodations that he knew if he made his de- mand it would be refused. It was his purpose to bring on a controversy, the animus being the fact that Judge Hilton had seen fit to withdraw a large amount of business from Seligman's house. While he did not desire to have a personal contro- versy with the gentleman, Hilton was not disposed to avoid one. Mr. Seligman was considered in high esteem by members of the Union League Club, nor yet by those of his own race. As to the threat that Stewart & Co. would take a large amount of busi- ness by reason of the Jews withdrawing their patronage, when the sold their dry goods they did not sell their principles. That the Judge's action has not been of an alarming character.

The Tribune says: A well known hotel proprie- tor of this city visited yesterday that the difficulty was the result of a quarrel at the Grand Union last summer between Mrs. T. Stewart and Mrs. Selig man. Mrs Stewart, it was said, was insulted by the latter lady, and, in consequence, had given orders this season that no Jews should be enter- tained at the Grand Union. Several Hebrews stated last night that they believed this was the real cause of their exclusion.

To the Times reporter, Hilton said the step he had taken had been forced upon him after long, conscientious deliberation. Seligman had put him under personal obligations to himself by proving that he does not really belong to a class of Jews to which he (Hilton) has given him by scurrility of his newspaper defense and mean attempt to force this controversy into a personal quarrel. Criticising Lauterbach's statement of Seligman's standing, he said:

This lawyer's argument seems resolve themselves into special pleadings. It is attempted to prove that Joseph Seligman is an orthodox Hebrew, by ascer- tained his brothers hold high official positions in that church. The common people would accept in preference to such logic the simple statement that Joseph Seligman believes that Christ is as yet not come. Seligman's representative character in regard to the Hebrew faith is then sought to be established by the fact that he signed and bank- ffices which he holds. Tweed could greatly dis- count Seligman in such logic as this, at least in the number of his public positions, if not in the manner which he acquired them. Suppose I should assert that Seligman was some of his most valu- able offices to the perfection of the perfect shylock- ean manners; that the house of A. T. Stewart & Co withdrew their foreign exchange business from Seligman's because the house of Stewart had to pay too great a discount to get the Seligman cer- tificates cashed in Europe owing to the fact that the Seligman house was found to be doing business in dangerous excess of their actual capital, and that to-day the Seligmans owe their position in the syndicate to political influence not squarely se- cured, instead of to any financial bottom, and that the position of the Seligmans in the syndicate is just as distasteful to the other members of that or- ganization as their presence is considered in the Grand Union Hotel, and that so utterly devoid of good standing are they in the syndicate, among the really solid men of it, that the Rothschilds will only hold intercourse with the Seligmans when these interviews are absolutely unavoidable, and will even then meet them second hand or through a clerk. Suppose I should publicly assert these things of the Seligmans, I would only be making this controversy a personal one after the example set by Lauterbach, and if I should assert those things the Seligmans know that I could substanti- ate every one of them.

Hilton characterized Lauterbach's assertion that a hundred Jewish houses had yesterday closed accounts with Stewart & Co. as one of the hugest possible professional lies, and but one such firm has closed accounts. He says:

We got a letter from a city merchant, saying he could no longer deal with a house that was revi- ving the middle ages. His name is Birnstein. We promptly closed his account. It amounted to exactly $2 19. The business of A. T. Stewart was never so good, nor has it ever had so many people employed as now. It all the great number of our Hebrew customers who called in to-day, none ap- peared to be so much interested in the Seligman question as in the more important one to them, in getting the best for the least money.

Hilton persists in the distinction in He- brews and what he calls 'Seligman Jews," justifying the exclusion of the latter from first-class hotels, on the ground that they are not wanted by those who support such houses. He said to a Times reporter:

The Hebrews are not proscribed: there is no religious standard. The hotel is run for the par- ticular benefit of patrons and must conform in their management to the wishes and prejudices of their patrons or go down. Such hotels are in their very nature exclusive. The hotel that charges $4 per day proscribes the people who cannot pay $4, but they do not complain; they go elsewhere; $4 hotels don't want them, and they go to the $2 ho- tels which do, and that ends it: but the Seligman Jew repre-ents nothing that is standard Hebrew. He is to the Hebrew what the shyster is to the profes- sion. He is shoney. He has made money and he must advertise it in his paper. He is of low origin and his instincts are of the gutter. His principles smell of decayed goose or of decayed principle, but he has extended cast out of his gutter, his right, his principles, and he shoves his person upon re- spectability. He is too obtuse or too mean to see his vulgarity, or go where it may not be on public exhibition. He is shoddy, false, squeezing, un- manly, but financially he is successful, and that is the only token he has to push himself upon the public. He is as audacious as he is vulgar as flossy and it is worthless. He is as vain as he is devoid of merit, and he is puffed out with as much impor- tance as he is poor of any value. He comes to the Grand Union big with himself and little with everybody else in the decent world, plunks down his cash with his royal order and having never seen the respectable world, he can't get enough to eat unless he gorges down his unpractised throat six meals a day, and then for fear folks will not know he is an old epicure he protrudes his fil- thy red pod in the gaze of every unfortunate person in its path who has open eyes, and then he goes to his room and prepares himself for next day's glut- tony by ridding himself of his tortuling load all over the furniture with groans at its loss that dis- turb every decent person within ten rooms on every side of him. They have deserved the com- mon contempt they get and they have brought the injurious reflection of their vulgarities upon the true Hebrews. The richness of this new country has tended to propagate the breed and the breed has cursed the Hebrew race socially. In this country people will not go to a hotel where the Seligman Jew is admitted, and hotels if they would thrive, must keep out those who would ruin their existence, and the very fact that the Seligman Jew makes such a fuss because people don't want his society and makes such noise to force himself where he is unwelcome instead of going elsewhere proves him to be just what I describe him.

LATEST WAR NEWS.

Turkish Defeat.

CETTINJE, June 20.—Montenegrins state that they defeated the Turks to day in a sanguin- ary bat le, near Spuz.

Why Russia is Slow.

LONDON, June 20.—The inefficiency of the Russian commissariat is now believed to have had more influence than diplomatic consider- ations in delaying operations on the Danube. This defect appearing to have been remedied, probab lities of an early crossing of the river are again very strong.

Turks Retiring.

The Turkish forces in Armenia, though they make vigorous feints of resistance, are evidently again retiring towards Erzeroum and the Russians are again advancing. This is considered to indicate that the Russian siege of Kars is progressing favorably and that the besieging force is expected soon to be free for concerted demonstration, which must either destroy Mukhtar Pasha's army or com- pel it to an equally fatal retreat.

Soothing the Servians.

The presence of the Czar at Ploiesti has done much to restrain the Servian disposi- tion to participate in the war, and further complications have thus been avoided.

The Turks Defeated.

CETTINJE, June 21.—Yesterday the Turks occupied the village of Martinez, the Montene- grins retiring to the heights above without resistance. To-day the Turks attempted to move toward Danilograd, but were attacked by the united force of Petrovich, Plamnatz and the Kulchi. After a desperate struggle of five hours the Turks were driven back to Spuz, abandoning their camp and baggage to the Montenegrins. Petrovich telegraphs that he has captured a tenth of their horses, arms and colors, and I achieved the most glori- ous victory of the campaign. Suleiman Pasha remains in his positions at the head of the valley of Zetta, watched by Gen. Vukovich on one bank of the river and the Prince of Mon- tenegro on the other. Figh

POLITICAL DRIFT.

In the present state of political affairs all discussion as to the future prospects of parties is unnecessary and useless. Of solemn prediction there is no lack; but it is no better than the most ordinary conjecture. Men prophesy what they wish. Dogmatism seldom springs from true insight. Opinions made up now are likely to be faulty. There is a change in the direction of political forces, and the new movement has not gone far enough to give a certain indication of the result. A very troublesome question is, for the present, out of politics. The effort to sustain the Republican party in the southern states by influence from Washington has ceased. It could not hold these states to that party, and its reflex action on Republican fortunes in the northern states was extremely injurious to that political organization. If, therefore, no Republican party can exist in the southern states unless by support from without, there will be no Republican party in that section. If it is to exist there at all, it must be organized and supported within those states. The old policy cannot be restored. Even the New York Times, which refrains from commending what the President has done, nevertheless sees there can be no going back. It does not plead for indifference to methods of political outrage in the southern states. But it shows what should be the positions of northern Republicans toward them. "The impunity," it says, "which attends the perpetration of political murders, and the brutality of local feeling which winks at horrors that would startle a civilized community are fair subjects of criticism and informal remonstrance. The connection which exists between them and the Democratic party in the south is too manifest to be overlooked when the north shall be called upon again to judge between the parties. It is clear that the moral efficacy of exposure and discussion upon these points depends on moderation and reasonableness, and especially on a due regard for the rights of states under the constitution. Gov. Stone may be denounced as a disgrace to the office he occupies, and his state as a scandal to American civilization, but the reaction would be in their favor if their faults and crimes were made a reason for overturning the constitution and renewing civil war. The Republican party would be unwise if it neglected these considerations and staked its future upon a policy of sectionalism and strife."

FIGHTING MOUNTAINEERS.

So far the real fighting of the present war is being done by the Montenegrins. They are making resistance to the Turks in a manner worthy of their old renown. Pressed by immense superiority of numbers, they hold their enemies at bay and inflict on them appalling losses. For two or three weeks the fighting has been almost continuous. With all their excess of numbers the Turks gain no advantages. Dispatches to day tell of another bloody repulse. It is a repetition of what reported some ten days ago. The Turks in these assaults are endeavoring to force defiles held by the mountaineers. In numbers, the Montenegrins are insignificant compared with their assailants, but their bravery is unsurpassed. Special dispatches to the New York Herald of the 12th give a vigorous account of a four days' battle then just terminated, in which a great victory was gained by these people over the Turks. We give two or three paragraphs:

The fighting on the third day was almost hand to hand, the combatants firing in each other's faces at a few yards' distance. But although the Turks gained ground slowly it was at a terrible cost in men. Their superior numbers enabled them to push up supports to take the place of the slain, and it seemed as if the head of the Turkish column of attack was melting away as before a furnace.

Notwithstanding the stubborn bravery of Suleiman Pacha's troops the fourth day's fighting found them no nearer the key of the pass, and they had already lost three thousand men. Still they endeavored to maintain possession of the ground they had gained at such a fearful cost. But the effort was hopeless. The hardy Montenegrins repulsed every attempt to advance, and it became now only a question of covering the retreat of the exhausted column.

This was commenced by a furious onslaught on the Montenegrins by the troops farthest in advance, but which was quickly repulsed by a murderous fire. The retreat now became general, and the victorious mountaineers speedily followed the retiring Turks, killing an immense number, and reoccupying their former positions.

TORPEDOES.

Among recent inventions the torpedo, as perfected and now employed by engineering science, is destined to accomplish great things, and it is probable will wholly revolutionize naval warfare. It is stated that the Russians expect to destroy with them all the Turkish iron-clads that patrol the Danube. Some they have destroyed already. A London paper thus describes the new torpedo boat, now so terribly feared as an engine of destruction:

The Lightning is without exception the fastest ship in our navy, and only eighty-four feet in length. She will be armed with Whitehead's torpedoes, which will be discharged from her forward deck. The latest improvement about this phenomenal missile is that it can be set so as to turn to the surface at half-ocs and without exploding if it miss the object aimed at, and thus be safely picked up. Though fired from a deck above the surface of the sea, the torpedo will at once dive down to the distance wished, and then proceed in an unerring line on its mission of death and devastation, it being calculated to make a breach of seventy feet in bursting. No vessel, however built, could long continue to float after such a blow, and the demoralizing effect of such a disaster on the rest of a fleet may be easily imagined. We shall hope to hear that the navy will soon include fifty Lightnings at least, the whole cost of which would be but $25,000, or about half that of a large iron-clad.

THOSE FUNERAL ORATIONS.

All the newspapers have remarks on the Tilden wake at Manhattan Club. The Chicago Times, which supported Tilden and Hendricks, says:

Hendricks said that by the appointment of Hayes and Wheeler instead of Tilden and Hendricks, and thus "defeating the will of the people, a blow had been struck at American institutions, which," etc. The striker of the said blow was Congress, and the "American institutions" struck at were probably Tilden and Hendricks, as no other American institutions appear to have sustained any particular damage.

This is very much to the purpose. What the Chicago Tribune says is quite as well:

Mr. Tilden bewailed his fate that the usufruct of the national patronage should have passed from within his grip forever. In a weak and trembling imitation of what he might have been with different surroundings, he talked of disfranchisement, and then dropped into maudlin prophesies of the glittering glories in store for the nation when "external forces" shall conspire to elect any man who has spent his money to secure the Presidency, closing with a malignant kick at his old friends in Tammany's palmy days. It was a melancholy oration, entitled to charitable consideration for its funeral aspects and its functions of epitaph upon a broken and misguided man.

All writers have been discussing Senator Morton's letter. As readable a commentary as we have seen is from the pen of Grace Greenwood. One may dissent from her views, but the piquancy of her remarks must be conceded. "I do not think," she says, "that Senator Morton's able letter is universally considered the 'sovereignest thing on earth for the inward bruise' of doubting and disappointed Republicans. Its logic is at best, they say, a benumbing opiate. There seems to me a dreary tone of fatalism about it. A wail of hopelessness runs through it. 'Too late, too late, ye cannot enter now.' Its statement of the main question, 'Should the President yield to the inevitable, or proceed only to inevitable defeat?' chills one's blood. Mr. Morton is a strong man, a very Samson among ordinary politicians, but his letter is the language of a Samson shorn and bound. It is a cool, calm, almost sullen acknowledgment of utter powerlessness, of moral as well as political surrender. Altogether, this letter is very depressing reading for hot weather."

The leading newspaper of the south, the Mobile Register, talks in a way that will greatly please the advocate of confederate ideas in Oregon. It may be supposed that the organ here would have copied the following from the Register ere this, had it chanced to see it:

Let us have done with all this Decoration Day twaddle. The right was right, and wrong and right can never shake hands over a bunch of flowers. The true southern people have no wish to obtrude their attachment to their principles upon the gaze of the world; they are honestly determined to abide by the federal government; they will struggle by all means to make that government as nearly as possible like their beloved confederate government; but they do not propose to blot out their history by such empty and abject twaddle as that indulged in by the later Decoration Day orators, who roll up the whites of their eyes and say, "God knows who was right." We know who was right, and God knows that the south was right.

Protesting against the indifference of the British government to the condition of the mass of the population of Turkey, dominated by an armed caste of Mussulmans, and repelling the doctrine that the whole subject is to be viewed in England from the single standpoint of England's material interests, the London Daily News energetically says: "We do not profess to have attained to that state of patriotic exaltation which is indignant if such trifles as justice and mercy are mentioned in the same breath with the maintenance of the British empire."

General Read, United States minister to Greece, has reported another discovery. It is the monument mentioned by Thucydides as having been erected by Pisistratus. The account says:

The stone, which was lying neglected on the right bank of the Ilissus, southwest of the Temple of Jupiter Olympus, bears an inscription, of which the following is the translation: "This monument, upon his advent to power, Pisistratus, the son of Hippias, has dedicated in the the Temple of Apollo Pythius." The discovery of this remarkable stone fixes the site of the Temple of Apollo Pythius, which was hitherto unknown.

A few weeks ago the Chicago Times sent a war correspondent to Europe. He supposed he was sent over for business; so he tried to plunge all Europe into war as soon as he landed in London. His gory dispatches for several days beat the warlike talk of the tremendous Captain Bobadil. Europe couldn't have its peace threatened in this way, and the Times had to recall him. Which explains why we got no more of those dispatches forecasting a war to involve all Europe.

Many great fires have occurred during the last few years, but we recall no instance in which a city has been so utterly destroyed as St. Johns, New Brunswick, is now reported to be. It was a city of about 27,000 inhabitants, and was built very compactly. Most of the buildings were brick and stone. The site is a rugged one, forcing the town into narrow limits and rendering it liable to complete destruction whenever a fire should get beyond control.

Division of the state of Colorado is already proposed. The principal argument is that the people "south of the divide" want to be liberated from the "corrupt politicians of the north who got away with both United States Senators last winter." It is entirely safe to conclude that the demand comes chiefly from politicians "south of the divide," who would like to be Senators themselves, and want a state of their own for this purpose.

A representative of the Burlington Hawkeye interviewed Senator Morton on his way through that city the other day, and solemnly assures us that the Senator has great confidence in the President's policy, but doesn't think it will succeed.

CITY.

FROM MOUNT TABOR.—To a gentle[man] sitting at Mount Tabor we are indebted for the following: The match game of ball played on Saturday last by the Pedros and Eagles of East Portland, came off in fine style and terminating in war. The Eagles [claimed] seems, in true Spartan style, to "return with the shield or upon it." At all events, when the game was half through, seeing defeat [stared] the club certain, they secured the ball and one of their number proposed to "fight it out," which proposition was accepted by the Pedros with alacrity. The result was not known. Disinterested parties who were present say that the Pedros could in no way be blamed for the disgraceful proceedings. C. W. Hartman has so far recovered from his late severe attack of rheumatism as to be able to walk about the farm with no further assistance than a stiff leg. Some natural advantages are to be seen in the Railroad Number Two, the way of large, well-developed prunes, shade trees, giving every evidence of [thriving] maturity.

DEATH OF CHARLES HAUNSTEIN.—The following intelligence was received here yesterday: Mr. Charles Haunstein, the well-known wholesale and retail dealer in cigars, tobacco, at the corner of Front and Yamhill streets, had died at Glencoe, Washington county, some time past. Mr. Haunstein had been declining health. Last week he was taken with a fever and was quite ill. The change of air would prove beneficial to his health, he went out to Washington county the first of the present week to spend a few days with his children. Change of locality did not have the effect sought for. He continued to grow worse, and yesterday morning quietly passed away from earth. The remains will be brought to the city on this morning's train, for interment. Charley was a genial, kind-hearted fellow, and his death will be a source of sincere regret among his large circle of friends and acquaintances.

SUICIDE BY SHOOTING.—Thursday morning Alexander Collier, a blacksmith by trade, was found in a dying condition at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. John Johnson, at the corner of Hall and Third streets. About 6:30 o'clock A. M. Mr. Johnson went to Mr. Collier's room to awake him, and was horrified on finding him lying on the bed with a pistol ball through the temple with a pistol. He was breathing but unconscious. Medical aid was immediately invoked, but the unfortunate man had passed beyond human skill, and expired about 10:30 A. M. For some time deceased had been in a partially demented state of mind, supposed to have been brought on through financial reverses. He was 52 years of age and leaves a wife and two children in Victoria, besides two brothers, both of whom reside in Portland. He was a native of Scotland. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.

INSANE.—The Evening Telegram says: Chapman Thomas who was with Davis when the latter was murdered, in the woods near the Canadian line a few months since, is now very sick in the hospital, and, as is supposed, is hopelessly insane. He is continually out of his head and talks almost incessantly of circumstances connected with the murder. A man employed by the county remains with him as nurse, and entertains little hopes are entertained of his recovery. There is evidently something resting on his mind, and the authorities are only waiting in hoping he may be able to reveal something.

INFORMATION DESIRED.—The postmaster at this place is in receipt of a letter dated [illegible] (either Nebraska or Nevada, we are unable to determine which), June 6th, which says that a man named Louis Vilcox, a resident of that locality, died in that place on the 20th of last March. The writer, David McCollister, states that he thinks that deceased had a wife and daughter living in Portland. He asks that you be kind enough, if you know of them, to send this letter to him or give him some of the papers in your city for publication.

TO MEMBERS G. A. R.—The remains of the late Charles Haunstein will arrive here this morning on the train from Hillsboro. Deceased was a soldier in the late civil war, and at the time of his death was a member in good standing of the Grand Army of the Republic. The funeral ceremonies will be conducted by the members, of that organization. Due notice will be given of the hour of meeting of the Post; also the funeral. All members of that organization are requested to be in readiness to attend the meeting.

NOT DEAD.—Two of the evening papers reported yesterday that Mr. Theodore L. Smith, commonly and familiarly known as "Ted" Smith, who was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital a few days ago, had died at the institution yesterday morning. Dr. Strong, who is attending physician at the Hospital, called at this office last evening and stated that the report is without foundation. Mr. Smith is now at the hospital but is alive, and from appearances has no intention of "dying" soon.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.—The commencement exercises of St. Mary's Academy will take place next Wednesday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock. The exercises are public, but in consequence of the hall being only a limited number, no person will be admitted without a ticket. Four young ladies will receive graduating honors, diplomas and gold medals. The programme for the occasion will comprise the customary selection of music, declamation and dialogues.

STOCKS.—Recently stocks took an upward movement, but it was not healthy, as many have fallen back to the low figures. Hundreds here are interested in the California stock market, and hope to "realize" soon. Most likely they have been waiting in vain for something favorable "to turn up," and hope their fondest hopes may be realized. Though stocks are "mighty uncertain." Bennett in "80 Days" remarks, "too many assessments."

GENERAL INVITATION.—Our Hillsboro agent sends in the following for publication: "Portland and the rest of the world are cordially invited to be present with the Washington county folks at their celebration of the 101st anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. By order of the committee."

GOOD NEWS.—The Oregon and Alaska Silver Mining Co. have received by late mail information from Wm. Isb, who has been deputized to locate claims for the company, that on claims adjacent men are making from $2.50 to $3 per day. The indications are favorable for a good thing.

K. OF P.—ANNUAL SESSION.—The annual session of the Supreme Lodge Knights of Pythias will take place at Cleveland, Ohio, August 14th and 15th. The programme includes a grand parade, prize drill and banquet. Invitations have been extended to the lodges in this jurisdiction.

FULL FREIGHT.—The steamer Ohio arrived yesterday evening from up the Willamette with full freight—20 tons of flour from the Salem Mills and 15 tons of wheat and assorted cargo. The water is reported very low in the upper river.

SUSPENDED.—Owing to slim attendance and lack of funds, the various lodges, U. A. O. D., have suspended for the present. In the city there existed three lodges, to-wit: Mercy, Grove, Concordia and Cleanthe.

J. H. VINSON.—This well known actor, who was to appear in the cast of "80 Days," could not come, as he is lying very low in one of the interior California towns. He was a great favorite here.

ANOTHER NEW STEAMSHIP.

Through the courtesy of John D. Biles, Esq., secretary of the Oregon Steamship Company, we have been permitted to inspect the articles of agreement just entered into by that company and the justly celebrated builder, John Roach, of Chester, Pa. This agreement calls for the construction of another large steamship which, when completed, will be placed on the San Francisco and Portland route. The new steamer will be a propeller of the following dimensions: Length over all, 290 feet; length on 14 feet water line, 272 feet; beam moulded in widest place 38 feet; depth from base line to top of spardeck beams 25 feet; depth of hold 23½ feet.

The vessel is to be built in accordance with the rules of the American Shipmasters' Association and Bureau Veritas, for classification as A 1 for 20 years in either. All sizes of material and manner of construction to be subject to the approval of the officers appointed by the companies and to be accepted by them. The engines are to be of the compound type with cylinders 34 inches and 60 inches diameter; 54 inch stroke. There are to be four boilers 11 feet 8 inches in diameter and 10 feet long. The vessel will have two decks and hurricane deck, the main and lower deck to be of iron forward and aft of engine and boilers, to have iron bulkheads, and waterways and ventilators forward and aft wherever required. The deck is to have steam windlass and hoisting engines of approved pattern. The rigging, sails, boats and outfit to be satisfactory, and to pass inspection by the U. S. officers as required by law.

The steamer is required to possess capacity for accommodating 200 first-class passengers, the officers and crew, and also for the accommodation of 500 steerage passengers. The cabin and officers' room, pilot house, mess and smoking rooms are required to be heated by steam. The new ship is to have a complete outfit, to be furnished and fitted ready for sea, excepting coal, stores and provisions. The vessel is required to have hoisting engines and cargo elevators, and all modern improvements. She is to have a carrying capacity of 2,000 tons weight, and mast 10½ feet draft, 2,200 tons, and mast on 18 feet draft, and 1,550 tons dead weight, and mast on 17 feet draft. In point of speed the new ship is guaranteed 10 knots per hour on 16 tons of coal in 24 hours, 12 knots on 25 tons coal in 24 hours, 13 knots on 28 tons coal in 24 hours, 13½ on 32 tons coal in 24 hours. Throughout, the new vessel is to be built of the best material, and the workmanship is to be of the best character, including all that appertains to hull, machinery, joiner work, plumbing and outfit ready for sea.

The total cost of the vessel will be in the vicinity of $310,000. The new ship is to be delivered in New York, completed and ready to receive cargo, on or before January 15, 1878. All preliminaries have been arranged, and work on the new vessel has already been commenced.

BRIEF NOTES.

Rain last night—Good.

WEEKLY OREGONIAN now ready.

There are 15 boarders at the Hotel de Jeffery.

Remember the matinee performance tomorrow afternoon.

Blackberries and raspberries are making a feeble appearance.

"Overland Route" at New Market Theater Monday evening. Big attraction.

The German Rifle Club will hold a picnic at Willamette Grove park on the Fourth of July.

Portland Lodge, Good Templars, excursion this evening, Programme in another column.

The City Rifles have decided to attend the Hibernians' celebration on the Fourth of July.

Chas. J. Mulkey desires to state that he has not resigned as route agent on the N. P. R. R route.

There are now fifty inmates in St. Vincent's Hospital, and the number seems to be steadily increasing.

Josh Davies, the champion, has charge of the billiard room in the Lick House, San Francisco.

The students of St. Michael's College are preparing for their annual exhibition, which will take place in a few weeks.

The Olympic Club continues to increase in membership. During the summer months they will give a public exhibition.

The Father Mathew Society have recently improved their banner by having the badge and inscription of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America painted on the back.

Mr. L. C. Kinney, of Astoria, writes as follows: "Will you please state that the trip of the Canby, for Tillamook, as advertised in the OREGONIAN, will be indefinitely postponed on account of lack of business offering."

The Chronicle says: It is reported by J. E. Shepherd, agent for the Oregon State Board of Emigration, that the emigration to that State during the past year has been very extensive. Since the 1st of January the departures from this city have averaged about 1,500 a month.

Among the passengers by the incoming steamer is Mr. John Foley, the celebrated gold pen manufacturer of New York, who visits Oregon on a pleasure tour. Mr. Foley was one of the principal movers in the investigation which led to the discovery of the Tweed frauds in New York, and is a man of much influence in the Empire City.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW MARKET THEATER.—Another large and delighted audience greeted the performance last night at New Market Theater. The very sensational and attractive play of "Tour of the World in Eighty Days" does not seem to lose any of its interest by repetition, for nightly it is greeted by large and appreciative audiences. It will constitute the "drawing card" for the remainder of the week. Tomorrow afternoon a grand matinee performance will be given, commencing at 2 o'clock. Popular prices will be charged—50 and 25 cents.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a special meeting of Willamette Engine Co. No. 1, held at their hall Thursday evening, June 21, the following resolutions were unanimously accepted:

WHEREAS, We are called upon to mourn the death of our fellow fireman, Charles V. Wilkins, who died in San Francisco the morning of June 20th, therefore be it

Resolved, That in his death we deeply feel that we have lost an active and willing fireman, a true friend and a warm hearted brother.

Resolved, That to his relatives and friends in this hour of sorrow we offer our warmest and truest sympathy.

Resolved, That as an expression of our regard our house be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that these resolutions be published in the daily papers of this city.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to his relatives.

THE IDAHO INDIAN WAR.

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN.

Murder of all the White Men in the Salmon River Settlement, but Spare the Women and Children.

The number of Killed up to the date of Latest Advices.

Lapwai Reservation Abandoned.

Winnemucca and his Band in Arms on Cow Creek.

Agent Rinehart of Malheur Advised to Leave.

The Stmeoe Chief, Skamiah, Smohalla and Moses, Peaceable.

Telegraphic Correspondence between the Authorities concerning the War.

WALLA WALLA, June 21—11 A. M.—Dr. Dorr has received a letter dated Lewiston, yesterday, which says:

The Indians have killed every man on Salmon river, but have let the women and children live. A company of cavalry and Jim Lawyer (Indian) and forty of his men came to Lewiston to-day, with all the whites of Kamiah. The reservation and Lapwai is abandoned, and all have come to Lewiston. I have just returned from a scout to Grand Ronde river. We ran upon a party of warriors of about fifty, on the south side of Snake river. They appeared to be making their way to Wallowa. The Indians have got the best of the soldiers. Up to the present time, they have killed about thirty soldiers, and driven them back from White Bird canyon to Mount Idaho. The killed and wounded up to the present time number about fifty. The troops from Walla Walla cannot get to Camas Prairie. It will take 500 troops to whip Joseph's band.

WALLA WALLA, June 21, 9 A. M.—Winnemucca and his band are camped near Cow Creek, in Idaho, armed. They claim to be peaceable, but the Governor telegraphed to Silver City instructions for him to return and he refused to do so, saying he would fight first. About 25 or 30 Indians from Malheur Reservation passed Malheur Village Monday with a band of horses in the direction of the Weiser country. It is reported that the Indians at Canyon City said the government had better take Agent Rinehart away or he might be killed. There has been considerable dissatisfaction existing among Indians in regard to Rinehart, but of course do not know for certain. Information was obtained from stage drivers and citizens.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The following dispatch was received by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, from the Nez Perces agency:

Non reservation Indians commenced hostilities on the 14th inst. Up to date (the 16th) 29 settlers are reported murdered and four Indians killed. Gen. Howard is here in command. The hostiles are about 100 strong, and are reported to have gone to the Salmon river country and are making for the Weiser valley in Southern Idaho. Troops are in pursuit, about twelve hours behind. Reservation Indians are true to the Government. A company is formed under the head chief, and is protecting the settlement of Kamia and employes.

(Signed) Watkins, Inspector; Montieth, Indian Agent.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Gen. Howard having telegraphed Gen. Sherman that disaffected Indians to the number of 1,500 in all, and other facts and particulars which have in substance come from San Francisco, in press telegrams, Gen. Sherman sent a telegram to Gen. McDowell as follows:

Your several dispatches received, and I trust the first report of the disaster to two companies under Capt. Perry will prove incorrect, and that the combination among disaffected Indians is not as extensive as reported. Still we must meet the danger and overcome it, be it what it may. Gen. Howard is on the spot and can ascertain the exact truth. You can first support him by all the troops available, and call for reinforcements only after you have used all subject to your command. The aggregate number of Indian scouts possible for your division is 180. Surely you can let Howard have an even hundred by ordering Kautz to discharge a corresponding number.

W. T. SHERMAN, General.

The Secretary of War this morning received the following telegram from Gov. Brayman, of Idaho Territory:

BOISE CITY, I. T., June 21.

To the War Department, Washington: A disastrous Indian war has begun. There is no Territorial law creating militia, and only 20 regulars here. I want authority to organize, mount and provision volunteers at government expense. Immediate action is necessary. M. BRAYMAN, Gov. Idaho.

To this the Secretary of War replied that he had no authority to authorize him to organize, mount and provision volunteers at government expense, but that Gen. Howard had been fully instructed and clothed with all authority the Department can confer, and that he might furnish arms and ammunition as provided by law. Gen. Sherman also sent a telegram to Gen. McDowell, referring to the telegram from Gov. Brayman of Idaho and the reply thereto, saying Gov. Howard may issue, at his discretion, muskets not exceeding 500, and not over 25,000 rounds of ammunition.

Following special telegram to the OREGONIAN was recived last evening:

DALLES, June 21, 1877.

Father Wilbur has just come in from among his Indians. He says positively that Skamiah, Moses and Smohalla are with their people, and were never more peaceable.

Chief Looking Glass was at the mouth of the Soton, crossing his stock a few days ago—a task both difficult and dangerous, as the waters of the Snake are swollen and rapid. It is believed that Joseph has all, or nearly all his stock across, and the other two bands, White Bird's and Husch-Husch Kute's, are making similar progress.

Messrs. H. Rosenfeldt & Co. of this city received a dispatch from Messrs. Summer & Bear, merchants at La Grande, Union county, Oregon, to forward them immediately 12 Henry rifles and 2,000 pounds of ammunition.

Gen. M. V. Brown is in the city en route to Vancouver, having made arrangements to procure 1,000 rounds of ammunition at that place, which will be immediately forwarded to LaGrande according to a request from that town. In the meantime Gen. Brown has given verbal orders to the militia companies in the State to recruit men to the complement prescribed by law, the maximum number allowed being 42 men, and hold themselves ready for active service.

Fine fashionable dress and business suits, at bedrock prices, at Kohn's clothing palace, corner of First and Morrison streets.

Marx & Jorgensen have received an invoice of Tuborg's Copenhagen beer imported from Denmark, which they offer to the trade in general.

Barnes of the Central Market is happy in possession of a popular restaurant.

Don't waste money paying high prices while Birmingham, 156 First street, is doing good and cheap work in the furniture line.

The largest assortment of ladies' linen suits in the city, can be found at J. Harris & Son's Emporium of Fashion.

Mrs. B. A. Owens, M.D., Office and residence, east side First street, between Yamhill and Taylor. Special attention given to Women and Children complaints. Also gives Medicated Vapo- Baths, combined with Electricity, in treating Rheumatism and Chronic Diseases.

New novelties in lace scarfs and bibs, ruching, embroideries, fans, beads, etc., at Mrs. Charles Tichner's, 126 First street.

After a Fourth street promenade, take your sweetness to Fabre's.

Astoria has sent much meat to England, and there is some talk of sending fish, while there are hopes of introducing Cyrus Noble Whisky as the national drink there, to judge from the shipments going forward.—N. Y. Telegram.

The Medical Institute of Dr. W. L. Adams, corner of First and Salmon streets, will be removed to Hood river in a few months. Till then chronic diseases of men and women will be treated in Portland as usual. An accomplished lady assistant to give baths to ladies and assist in their treatment always in the office.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

(From the Sentinel.)

Father Eward Herman will celebrate Mass at the church in McMinnville next Sunday, the 24th inst. and at the usual hour.

Father Gauden, who has recently been an invalid, has sufficiently recovered to return to his missionary duties at The Dalles.

Bishop Seghers started on his missionary trip to Alaska on the Feast of the Sacred Heart. An auspicious day for the inauguration of such a great missionary work.

Rev. L. Verhaag will celebrate Mass at Milwaukie on next Monday, 25th instant, at 8:30 A. M., immediately after the arrival of the cars. There will be instruction in Christian Doctrine after Mass.

The Catholic Library Society of this city has been reorganized under the title of the Young Men's Catholic Association, having for its object not only the circulation of sound Catholic literature, but also embracing within its scope the promotion of the pleasure and instruction of its members by means of literary and musical entertainments, to be given occasionally under its auspices, and which will be free to all members. The organization was perfected on Sunday last by the adoption of a constitution and by laws, and the election of the following officers, who hold their positions until the annual election next January: President, D. J. Malarkey; vice president, Chas. Petrain; secretary, John S. Raleigh; corresponding secretary, H. Edwards; librarian, J. Van Borden; assistant librarian, Jas. Byrnes. The association will give a picnic some time next month for the purpose of raising funds for procuring new books.

A Medicine of Many Uses.

A medicine which remedies dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, debility, intermittent and remittent fevers, urinary and uterine troubles, depurates the blood, counteracts a tendency to rheumatism and gout, and relieves nervousness, may be truly said to have many uses. Such an article is Hostetter's Bitters, one of the most reliable alteratives of a disorderly or a well ordered state of the system ever prepared or sold. It has been over a quarter of a century before the public, is indorsed by many eminent professors of the healing art, and its merits have received repeated recognitions in the columns of leading American and foreign journals. It is highly esteemed in every part of this country, and is extensively used in South America, Mexico, the British possessions and the West Indies. If its increase in public favor in the past is to be regarded as a reliable criterion of its gain in popularity in coming years, it has indeed a splendid future before it.

Don't Slig it Your Teeth,

Remember that upon their labor the health of the stomach depends. Keep them perfect, and, in order to do so, manipulate them with a brush dipped in the fragrant SOZODONT, once or twice a day.

The American People.

No people in the world suffer as much with Dyspepsia as Americans. Although years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Heart-burn, Waterbrash, Sick Headache Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Liver Complaint, coming up of the food, low spirits, general debility, &c., yet since the introduction of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately relieved. 50,000 dozen sold last year without one case of failure reported. Go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular Size 75 cents. Agents, Crane & Brigham, Wholesale Druggists, San Francisco.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 22, 1877.

THE PUYALLUP VALLEY.

PUYALLUP, W. T., June 12, 1877.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Being anxious to let the outside world know what is doing in this beautiful valley, and having a few days at my disposal, I thought it well to report to you on the present appearance of things generally throughout this region.

NEW TACOMA.

On my arrival at the railway wharf I could hardly believe my eyes when I found that the hotel and all the adjacent buildings had been moved back towards the bluff about seventy-five feet, to make way for a round house and other matters necessary to give the place the appearance of a regular terminus, and impart to it an air of respectability. The renovation has been general throughout the entire building, and will materially add to the prosperity of the new town. The distance from the terminus to the top of the hill, or rather the town proper, is about half a mile, and on visiting it I could not help being struck with astonishment at the large number of dwellings and stores already built and in process of erection. The Tacoma Herald office occupies a most conspicuous position, and its genial editor (formerly proprietor of the famous Olympia Echo,) is always to be found at his post during working hours, ready and willing to help himself and the public in whatever way he can.

PUYALLUP BRANCH N. P. R. R.

The road not yet being completed, it is necessary for the traveler to seize upon any occasion that may present itself, to get to the valley, and as newspaper correspondents are no better than other people where a railroad is being constructed, your reporter about 8 P. M., took his seat on one of the wagons of the construction train. About 11 o'clock we reached Puyallup. Next morning I started early to ascertain what improvements had taken place since my last visit, and was agreeably surprised to find that the railroad had made a complete change in everything. All through the woods formerly occupied only by the wild birds, houses had sprung up as if by magic, old settlers finding that they had to keep time to the onward march of progress, building new and substantial edifices, and everything tending to the fact that another step had taken place in the history of Puyallup, and all through the near approach of the iron horse. The depot for the center of the valley has been located about 300 yards from Mr. E. Meeker's dwelling, and it is the intention of that gentleman to erect a two-story building on the ground, the building to be 70x24 feet, which he will use as a general store and furnishing warehouse. Contiguous to the depot is the Rainier House, kept by Mr. Harmon, and a general grocery store which bears the name of B. A. Young. The survey has been made of six acres of land between Mr. Meeker's and the line of railroad, on which the Puget Sound Manufacturing Company of San Francisco are about to erect a factory for the manufacture of all kinds of wooden ware, such as tubs, pails, brooms, excelsior bedding, etc. Through the suggestion of Mr. Meeker, and under the direction of the manufacturing company, a line of water troughs is about to be laid for a distance of a mile and a quarter to a point on the bluff 54 feet above the base, where a fall of water of about 14 feet takes place, which seems to be quite sufficient to supply quite a large town; but the present intention is to carry it to the factory for the purpose of feeding the boilers.

The soil of the valley is mostly sandy loam, and land generally is taken up and settled on, and good titles given. Improved land can be obtained for about $80 to $100 per acre, and unimproved for from $15 to $40, and it costs from $50 to $150 to clear land throughout the valley; therefore, it would be well for immigrants who contemplate settling here to come prepared to purchase, otherwise they may find it difficult to discover any unappropriated land. The Puyallup is a rapid river, but can hardly be considered navigable from the number of jams in it. The river bottoms are wonderfully productive. Amongst the principal hop-growers are Messrs. Ezra Meeker, Thompson & Mead, Ryan & Avery, Gardilla, Bowman & Grainger, J. V. Meeker and those on the Ross farm. The settlers of this valley are not yet able to cultivate grain to any considerable extent, but time will probably work wonders in this respect. The Puyallup valley is most healthy as a location, neither consumption nor ague being known to have originated there in any form. The railroad line has been completed for over ten miles, leaving about twenty to finish yet before reaching the coal mines.

The picking of the hops commences between the 6th and 10th of September, at which time it is generally necessary to employ a large number of hands, mostly Indians, but it is questionable whether sufficient help can be obtained this year or not. From present appearances I have no doubt that Puyallup valley will soon become the garden of Washington Territory, and it would be advisable for those who wish to make an investment in this vicinity to make early application, otherwise they may be too late, and by going farther may fare worse.

REPORTER.

LETTER FROM ALBANY.

ALBANY, June 20, 1877.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Why don't you suggest the propriety of showing the eminent gentlemen composing the Grover investigating commission as much of Oregon as they may be willing to see? Why would it not be a good idea for a few of your prominent citizens to take the matter in hand and see that the members of the commission devote all the time they may have to spare to "investigating" Oregon as it is? Our broad, fertile valleys and beautiful scenery may be fully investigated without any fear of an unfavorable report; and when questions arise in Congress touching the material interests and welfare of Oregon, we will have the weight of the testimony, and perhaps the influence, of Norton and Sansbury added to the efforts of our own Representatives.

There is no town in the state in a more flourishing condition than Albany. It has no equal, in point of neat, cozy, brightly painted residences—and new ones may be seen going up in all parts of the city. The principal streets are being graded, and every appearance indicates thrift and prosperity.

Linn county will supply the market with two million bushels of wheat this fall, and when this shall be exchanged for coin, everybody lives in hopeful expectancy of hearing some of it jingling in his pockets. If we do not have the one looked for "good time" this fall, it will be well enough to conclude that the present generation will not live to see it.

The result of the election on Monday last evidently means that the services of Lappeus, Hullock and the police ring are to be dispensed with. It has been a long siege, but right has at length prevailed, and the incumbrances thrust upon your city years ago, by a Democratic legislature and a Democratic Governor will soon be removed. Take away from the Democracy the power wielded by ballots and kindred rings and all their hopes are gone. Let the will of the people prevail, and in 1878, Oregon will throw aside Democratic rule, and the government and control of the state will go into the hands of servants honestly chosen. There will be no more fraud, no jobs, no penitentiary reports unexplainable, no stealing.

The sentiment prevalent in these parts is that for governor a practical business man is wanted—a man whose general business qualifications are such as have made him successful in his private business pursuits—one who is capable of comprehending and managing the financial affairs of the commonwealth in a practical, common sense way—one who has the sense to discover stealing when it is being done, and honest enough to prevent it. The finances of the state interest the people more than all other questions. This being the case, the people are centering upon one of your most respected citizens as the head of affairs. If the Republican party should nominate Mr. Henry Failing his election to the office of Governor is certain. The people would have a Governor whose ability and honesty are above criticism. The salary is insufficient to support the incumbent and maintain the dignity of the position, and the people are tired of poverty stricken professional politicians for Governor. They cost too much.

BERLIN, June 21.—A congress of 11,200 leading commercial firms of Germany was held at Frankfort yesterday, when it was resolved to ask the government to suspend its free trade policy and to institute an inquiry as to the state of trade and industry in Germany.

The Royalists in France.

LONDON, June 21.—A Paris dispatch says since the opening of debates, the platform of the cabinet seems more and more narrowed. The Royalists will remain with the cabinet, but the Imperialists immediately after dissolution it is said, will advocate the rule of President MacMahon till 1880 but will demand an appeal to the people after the expiration of his term.

Baseid Retaken.

PARIS, June 21.—A Pera dispatch says Baseid has been retaken by the Turks.

Burial of a Queen.

THE HAGUE, June 20.—The Queen of Netherlands was buried to-day. Foreign courts were represented, and there was an immense attendance.

Stirring up the German Ministers.

BERLIN, June 21.—Emperor William, before his departure for Ems, summoned the Ministers to his presence and expressed to them with much emotion, the anxiety he felt respecting the disintegrating influences at work in the church and society. He called upon them to resolutely and unitedly devote their energies to the tasks devolving on them from these causes.

German Comments on French Politics.

The North German Gazette comments warmly on the fact that the French Cabinet, instead of denying its assertion that they were actuated by clerical influences, confiscated its issues of June 17th, which contained that assertion. The provincial correspondence and Berlin papers point out that although Duke de Cazes, in the Chamber, quoted from the report of the French ambassador to Berlin as to the disposition of the German government, the ambassador was absent from his post before the change in the French Cabinet, and has been absent ever since.

French Politics.

LONDON, June 21.—The improved strength of the French government securities since the MacMahon demonstration against the Liberal Republicans, is a significant expression of fear of excesses by extreme Republicans, which always predisposes French capital towards strong personal government. There begins to be a growing opinion that this influence, together with the great advantage which the government has in controlling the machinery, may after all defeat the Liberals on appeal to the polls, especially as the Catholic church influences openly and actively sympathizes with MacMahon.

VERSAILLES, June 21.—In the Senate M. Depeyre, member of the Right, read the report of the bureaux, concluding in favor of dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies. After discussion of the report, adjourned till to-morrow.

Mail Ship Lost.

PARIS, June 20.—The French mail ship Weinking was lost on the voyage from Shanghae to Marseilles. The crew and passengers arrived at Eden, Arabia. Specie and mails lost.

Newspaper Prosecution.

PARIS, June 21.—Another prosecution has been commenced against the newspapers La Radical and Le Ben Public. There is some idea among Republican Senators of abstaining from voting on the dissolution proposal. They could thereby prevent the measure from being passed.

The money market locally is very quiet and with but few calls on side of their regular customers, the banks, though doing a fair business, are holding a very considerable surplus of available funds. As the movement of the heavy grain crops will soon begin, the ample supply of capital at hand is encouraging to the belief that trade will be active and that the harvest will be followed by a general revival of commercial interests.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS

OF

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

In the Treatment of Chronic Disease.

Positive Proof of his Wonderful Skill.

Testimony that Cannot be Contradicted.

Reliable Witnesses Testifying What he has Done for Them.

Perfect Cures where all other Treatment had Failed.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the beginning. I have gained 15 pounds of flesh, and I am now thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the palate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who, after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a portion of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor containing the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and lachrymatory gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life.

THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 5th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I am say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Yours Truly, JOHN BALLARD,

Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

It will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.
